

John J. Cho

CONTACT INFORMATION	655 Knight Way Graduate School of Business Stanford, CA 94305	Web: www.johnjcho.com E-mail: johnjcho@stanford.edu
EDUCATION	Graduate School of Business , Stanford, CA Ph.D., Political Economics	2024–
	Stanford Law School , Stanford, CA Activities: TBD	2024–
	Dartmouth College , Hanover, NH A.B., Government with High Honors and Quantitative Social Sciences	2018–2022
PUBLICATIONS	<ol style="list-style-type: none">4. “Gloating Villain: Two Field Experiments of the Effect of Anger on Turnout.” (with Al Fang, Greg A. Huber, and Alan S. Gerber). Revise and Resubmit at British Journal of Political Science.3. “Fact-Value Disagreements about Threats to Electoral Integrity: Beliefs about Importance and Prevalence of Fraudulent, Uncounted, and Foregone Votes in the 2020 Election.” (with Gregory A. Huber, Scott E. Bokemper, Alan S. Gerber, William J. Brady, Killian McLoughlin, Molly J. Crockett). Revise and Resubmit at Political Behavior.2. “The Importance of Breaking Even: When Policies that Benefit their Local Community and the Broader Electorate Become Politically Feasible.” (with Alan S. Gerber, Gregory A. Huber, and Patrick D. Tucker). 2024. British Journal of Political Science 54(3): 730-747.1. “Do Elite Appeals to Negative Partisanship Stimulate Citizen Engagement?” (with Mia Costa and Dartmouth undergraduate students). 2022. The Forum 20(1): 135–153.
UNDER REVIEW	<ol style="list-style-type: none">2. “Descriptive or Partisan Representation: Examining Trade-offs for Asian Americans.” (with Mia Costa and Yusaku Horiuchi).1. “Reward or Shoot the Messenger? Experiments on How People Treat the Messenger After Receiving Good or Bad News” (with Alessandro Del Ponte, Gregory Huber, and Alan Gerber).
WORKING PAPERS	<ol style="list-style-type: none">3. “The Challenge of Estimating Percentages: Reassessing the Origins and Meaning of Apparent Partisan Stereotypes.” (with Lilla Orr and Gregory Huber).2. “Who Stands Next to Whom? Voting Lines and Political Polarization.” (with Michael Herron and Daniel A. Smith).1. “Evaluating Asian American Candidates: The Effect of Ethnicity on Stereotypes.” (with Yusaku Horiuchi and Mia Costa).
INVITED TALKS AND CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS	American Political Science Association Midwestern Political Science Association Western Political Science Association Yale Center for the Study of American Politics Summer Workshop	2023 2022 2022 (Poster) 2023

HONORS AND AWARDS	Stanford University
	Knight-Hennessy Scholarship	2024
	NSF Graduate Research Fellowship (Political Science) (Declined)	2024
	Dartmouth College
	Jonathan B. Rintels 1927 Prize (Social Sciences)	2023
	Pressman Prize in American Politics (Government)	2022
	Fowler Family Prize in Democratic Politics (Government)	2022
	Louis Morton Memorial Prize (History)	2022
	Phi Beta Kappa	2022
	Stamps Scholar	2022–2022
GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS	Dartmouth College
	James K. Colby 1838 Memorial Postgraduate Fellowship ($5,500)	2023
	Neukom Institute for Computational Science Scholar ($1,000)	2022
	Rockefeller Center Senior Honors Thesis Grant ($750)	2022
	Department of Philosophy Social Justice Research Grant ($1,500)	2021
	James O. Freedman Presidential Scholarship ($2,000)	2020
	Politics & Law Fellowship ($2,000)	2019
PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE	Center for the Study of American Politics Pre-Doctoral Fellow, Yale University	2022–2024
TEACHING	Peer Tutor and Grader for GOVT 10: Quantitative Political Analysis (Mia Costa, Jeremy Ferwerda)	2021
LANGUAGES AND SKILLS	Languages: Spanish, Korean
	Technical: R, \LaTeX , Python, Stata, JavaScript, PostgreSQL, QGIS	